Nineteen Hundred and Sixty Five

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 16.5 million by 2020, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 8.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been implemented in the UK to improve the health care of older people. These include the establishment of the National Institute for Research in Care of the Elderly (NICE) in 1999, the establishment of the National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) in 2001, and the establishment of the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) in 2002.

The NICE is a non-departmental public body, which is responsible for providing advice and guidance on the health care of older people. The NICE is funded by the Department of Health, and its members are appointed by the Secretary of State for Health. The NICE is currently chaired by Professor Sir John Mann, and its members include representatives from the medical profession, the nursing profession, the social sciences, and the public.

The NICE is currently working on a number of projects to improve the health care of older people. These include the development of guidelines for the management of common conditions in older people, the development of guidelines for the management of mental health problems in older people, and the development of guidelines for the management of end-of-life care in older people.

The NICE is also working on a number of projects to improve the health care of older people in the community. These include the development of guidelines for the management of common conditions in older people, the development of guidelines for the management of mental health problems in older people, and the development of guidelines for the management of end-of-life care in older people.

Governors

ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT Bewley waves during parade.

We're the Morton Governors . . . We represent a cross section of feelings, attitudes, and leaderships. We comprise a student body striving for one common goal — a key to replace ignorance with understanding. Whether rooting for our team, compiling statistics, or lost in deep contemplation we are a part of that body; we know that we belong.

Able teachers acquaint us with the problems of the surrounding world which will one day be our legacy, hoping to cultivate a barren mind and watch it develop in its quest for truth.

We are a cross section of nationalities, beliefs, and personalities; each one different from the first, but each one sharing a common tradition, remembrances of social functions, a thriving spirit, and a friendly conflict between upper and lower classes.

Morton's Governors are a young, fresh, vibrant generation — this is the story of our year.

GOVERNORS SAW a magnificent view of the city from the top of the Washington Monument. The tall structure is a must for tourists visiting the Capitol city.

On their trip to the nation's capitol Governors visited such places as the Lincoln Museum, the Jefferson Memorial, the Washington Monument, the Capitol Building, and the White House.

Students boarded trains early Tuesday evening, October 20, for the ride to Washington. Late Wednesday afternoon train-weary Governors caught their first glimpse of the Capitol. As they embarked buses waited to whisk them to the hotel for dinner before a round of sightseeing.

Thursday morning the travelers journeyed to Arlington National Cemetery where they paid their respects at the grave of the late President Kennedy. Afterwards, they viewed the impressive "changing of the guard" ceremony. From Washington the students traveled to New York City where they spent the final hours of their trip seeing Chinatown, the Statue of Liberty, and the Bowery. A yacht cruise topped their stay.

Governors Journey to New York, Capitol;

PAINTINGS, the great rotunda, and the chambers of both Houses of Congress were visited by Governors during their guided tour of the Capitol Building and grounds.

WASHINGTON D. C.'s White House, the home of the presidents, was a favorite stop on the tour. President Johnson was not at home when M.H.S. students visited.

Pay Respects at Late President's Grave

MOST SIGHTSEERS found the climb to the top of the Statue of Liberty long, but the view was quite rewarding.

A NATION'S SORROW was remembered with a visit to the grave of the late President Kennedy. The October 22 visit was one month from the first anniversary of his assassination in Dallas, Texas.

President Installed; Cabinet Recites Oath

RESTING HIS HAND upon the bible, George Bewley repeats the oath of office which is being administered by Principal W. Winston Becker at inauguration assembly.

George Bewley was sworn in as the 12th President of the Student Association on November 20, 1964, by Principal W. Winston Becker. The new president next administered the oath of office to the other executive officers Drew Hiduke, Vice-president, and Chris Toth, Recorder, and then to the members of his cabinet.

Summaries of the offices and the duties involved were presented to the student body after George delivered his inaugural address. In his address George expressed his wish that the student body would take a more active role in their student government.

The judiciary branch was next to swear alligance to the new government. Tom Krughoff, Chief Justice, administered the oath of office to the members of his courts including the judges, recorder, and bailiff.

Within the course of the assembly students acknowledged the help given by the two association sponsors, Mr. William Volk and Mr. Joseph Gartner.

At the end of the assembly period President Bewley led the standing student body in the student pledge to insure cooperation from all Governors throughout the remaining months of his term in office.

NEWLY INSTALLED president, George Bewley, administers the oath of office to his Vice-president, Drew Hiduke. Drew outlined his plans for the association in his acceptance speech.

He stressed the need for students to take a more active part in the formation and passage of association policies.

Assemblies Offer New Facets of Education

FUTURE ASTRONOMER Terry Mears makes use of a disguise to illustrate his work at Indiana University's Science Institute.

Assemblies are a necessary component of the curriculum at Morton High School. This year, for the first time, Middle School students were given their own assemblies since they were excluded from the normal gathering. M.H.S. programs presented educational material such as films and slides dealing with a variety of subjects from zoology to social pressures and prejudices. Popular music and styles characteristic of the teenager were also included as a part of the regular format.

At M.H.S. programs were under the direction of Jennifer Evans, Secretary of Assemblies. Thus, the material was not only seen by the students, but the Governors themselves took an active interest in what was presented.

Clubs and various other departments often used the assemblies to acquaint Governors with the work of the organization and its role in school life.

SKITS concerning summer institutes were given to reveal the benefits of additional study.

GOVERNORS PLEDGE allegiance to their nation's flag at the beginning of each assembly program. The words bring to mind the proud heritage of America.

Gov'nors Uphold Tradition Despite Setbacks

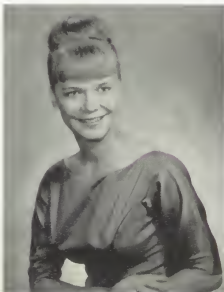

Mother Nature played an important role in Morton's 1964 Homecoming as rain checked all activity and caused a shift in float themes for the junior class.

Assemblies and a bonfire, held in preparation of the announced date, allowed students to meet the queen candidates. The six girls were judged on their appearance, personality, and service to the school.

The Governor's choice was revealed four weeks before the second Homecoming date to reduce the candidates' suspense and tension. Morton's queen, Mary Lynn Waters, was crowned on October 30, 1964, by Student Association President George Bewley. After the game, the queen reigned over the annual dance.

SENIORS CHOSE "We're Draggin' Down the Archers" as the theme for their Homecoming float. A sudden downpour changed the nome on the float from "Archers" to "Wildcats".

STUDENT ASSOCIATION PRES. G. Bewley bestows a kiss upon newly crowned Mary Lynn Waters. Moments later, Mary Lynn descends the "top hot" platform with the help of her escort L. Stout to begin her reign.

GOVERNORS' CHOICE for 1964, Mary Lynn Waters, reigned as queen over Homecoming festivities which included the annual game followed by a dance held in her honor.

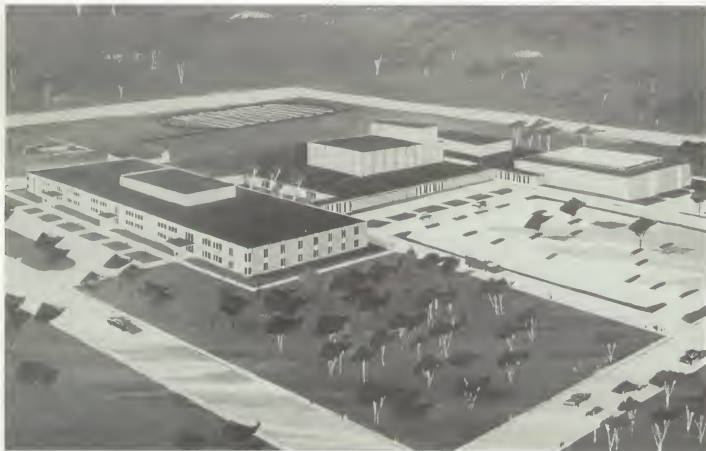

QUEEN'S COURT members for 1964 are — Nancy Creekmore, JoAnn Frye, Janet Glasgow, Judy Jeneske, and Kathy Teegarden.

High School Moves to Larger Home in '66

Yearly expansion in the enrollment of students at M.H.S. forced administration officials to hunt for larger accommodations. A new school was proposed to eliminate the crowded conditions and the corner of 169th and Grand Avenue was chosen as the site for the construction.

Three main sections will make up the new building. These are academic, liberal and practical arts, and and physical education. Each section will be granted a certain area of the two story building. In addition, the academic wing will accommodate counselors and office personnel as well as the nurse. Also in this section will be the long awaited library which has suffered greatly from lack of space. Other features, such as a spacious auditorium with a 1,200 seating capacity and a large gym, will be included.

SANTA CLAUS offers advice to Principal W. W. Becker on the location and size of the new Morton High School building.

A NEW SCHOOL will provide a pleasant, spacious atmosphere, different from the conditions which exist within the present "home of the Governors." The new building will house the high school while the present building will be turned over to the Middle School under the guidance of Principal Daniel Gyure, appointed in February.

MORTON students enjoy cheering the team.

CHEERLEADERS generate energy to surrounding supporters.

Pep Rallies Arouse Spirit, Support Teams

Essential to the morale of any team is a strong group of loyal boosters who will stand behind them regardless of the record. Morton Governors are such a group of fans. In order to channel this support to the right areas, pep rallies are held often throughout the fall and winter seasons by the cheerleaders. Pep rallies enable the fans to demonstrate their approval of the team's performance and to let the boys know that they are being backed all the way.

The annual pre-school pep rally, held in a local bank parking lot each fall, rings in the new school year with some enthusiastic cheers. During this rally juniors and seniors, together with the cheerleaders and pep band, put on skits which depict the favorite players of the football team.

Basketball sectionals afford students with another opportunity to cheer their team. A pep assembly is held to arouse support and to introduce the team. Pep talks given by the coaches increase confidence in the boys' ability to perform and represent M.H.S. well.

BOOSTERS turn out in large throngs for any pep rally to yell for their team.

There will be a ten minute intermission between the acts.

Marriage-minded people filled the script and cast of the fall play, "Red Mill". Throughout the play the question of "who will marry whom?" was constantly a puzzle. Presented on November 19-21, the play dealt with a small Dutch town called Katwyk-ann-zee in which the red mill was located.

The town's Burgomaster planned to wed his daughter, Gretchen, to the Governor of the town. Being young, Gretchen had made up her mind to marry a young sailor rather than the elderly governor. To complicate the situation, Juliana, the Burgomaster's sister, and the governor have decided to marry. The Burgomaster locked Gretchen in the red mill to keep her from marrying her sailor, Henry. As is the case in most love stories, the lovers are coupled the way they had planned and everyone lives happily ever after.

"Dumbell People in a Barbell World," the winter play, consisted of three separate acts which characterized the title. "The Immovable Gordons," the first act, tells of an elderly couple forced to vacate their condemned apartment. The second act, "The Little Lady of Friday Night," relates the tale of a cleaning woman who devoted her life to beautifying the world. The final act, entitled "The Man With The Tranquil Mind," involved the life of a health lecturer who was engaged to the "healthiest girl at Woolworth's."

A chivalrous bachelor and his strange friend, an invisible 6'2" rabbit, provided Governors with a touch of light humor when the drama department staged "Harvey" early in the spring. Needless to say, the friend caused the young man considerable trouble with unbelieving friends. Priority was given to seniors for cast parts by Mr. Donn Edwards, production director.

REHEARSALS HELPED "actors" to learn their roles and acquaint them with stage maneuvers. Members of the cast of "Harvey," Judy Jeneske and Bob Florence, watch Jack DuFrain examine the two holes in the cop.

SCENERY is not a problem to members of the cost of "Harvey," the senior play. Here, Diane Burke, Ellen Hawking, and Tom Krughoff devote their time after school to perfecting the projection of their lines and stage positions.

Teens Enjoy Nightlife, Attend Formal, Prom

Morton's first formal affair of the season, "Beaus and Arrows," was held on February 12, 1965, at St. Michael's Hall. The annual Winter Formal was sponsored by the Government Club to raise money to support Morton's two Vietnamese foster children. Nguyen Thi Be and Nguyen Thi Trung were adopted to compensate for the loss of the Governor's first foster child, Kim Chung Yung, who died unexpectedly.

"Unforgettable" was the theme for the 1965 Junior-Senior Prom. Held at the Dorchester Club, the prom climaxed a fun-filled social season. Artful decorations combined with soft lights allowed Governors to forget momentary troubles and "dance the night away" to music provided by the Rhythm-Airs.

The Dorchester Club was also the scene of the After Prom Party. Here Governors enjoyed the entertainment of the Drew-Vels and found time to pause for refreshments. Parents of the Juniors were responsible for the planning which went into the party.

SECRETARY of Social Affairs, Kathy Teegorden and her date Larry Gordner enjoy the romantic music and soft-colored lighting of the Winter Formal held February 12, 1965.

TAKING time out for refreshments at the Winter Formal are ex-Governor Danny Johnson and Bobb Hollum.

UNDER BRIGHTLY COLORED decorations, Juniors and Seniors danced to the music of "B" Nelson's "Rhythm-Airs" during the prom. The event was the beginning of a fun-filled night.

Completing the evening with the After Prom Party or a trip to a Chicago nightspot made it truly "Unforgettable".

Class of '65 Enjoys Banquet, Senior Week

During the last week in May the class of 1965 participated in Senior Week. Monday through Friday the seniors wore the special outfit of the day which ranged from Bermuda shorts to Dress-up apparel. While their participation in senior week allowed seniors to indulge in some fun before facing the mountainous task of studying for final exams, it also served to remind them that their final high school year would be drawing to a close in a few days. It was the Senior Banquet, held on May 8, which paved the way for final activities.

Scholastic achievement and service to the school was announced and rewarded accordingly when outstanding seniors were recognized at the awards assembly. Aside from personal recognition, seniors were able to review with pride and satisfaction their record of the past four years as students at M.H.S. The 1965 graduating class left behind a legacy of high scholastic, moral, and social achievement.

Commencement and baccalaureate climaxed four years of fun, homework, and growing pains for Morton's 1965 senior class. Baccalaureate was held in Tech Auditorium while the Hammond Civic Center accommodated the Governors and their parents for commencement exercises on June 10th.

UNAWARE of the impending confiscation of his "toy," Bermuda-clad senior Tim Summer enjoys one of the privileges of senior week. Mr. W. Volk, Assistant Principal, apparently has another thought on the matter.

CONFERENCES such as these were held often during April to plan the Senior Banquet. Here Chris Brown, John Gervoc, Paul Scott, Chris Toth, Shoryn Borynes, and Jim Tomsic form a committee.

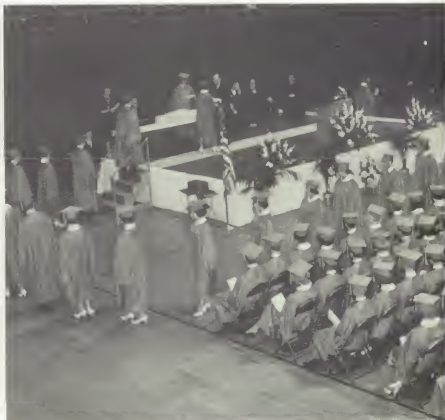

DISMISSAL bell sounds the end of another homeroom period as seniors empty the large auditorium.

Seniors Bid Farewell to Home of Governors

SENIORS, under the eyes of proud parents and friends, enter the Hammand Civic Center to take their places before commencement exercises.

LINING UP to receive their diplomas, seniors have time to remember their past four years as Governors. Commencement marks the end of their student life at M.H.S.

As Governors we study a varied curriculum.

Capable teachers, well-versed in their chosen fields, educated our minds to meet the demands of the modern world.

Our scholastic endeavors in fields ranging from speech to science are well known and instill within us a special pride. Through our studies at M. H. S.

we strive to become a well-informed, intelligent student body.

Experiments Highlight Scientific Research

Regional and national science honors won by Morton students are a reflection of the excellence of the science department at Morton. Capable teachers, advanced equipment, and teaching techniques play an important part in the science curriculum.

Biology, the science of life, is the most popular science course offered at Morton. Included in the course is the dissecting of worms, frogs, and white rats. A new addition to the department on a trial basis was a closed-circuit television, which aided in the study of plants and animals. The set enabled the entire class, rather than just five or six students, to observe dissections and other such demonstrations.

Zoology, offered to advanced biology students, entails a further study into the animal kingdom. Dissections progress to more complicated animals, such as sharks and cats. A study of mammalian circulation using the calf heart and lungs is also made.

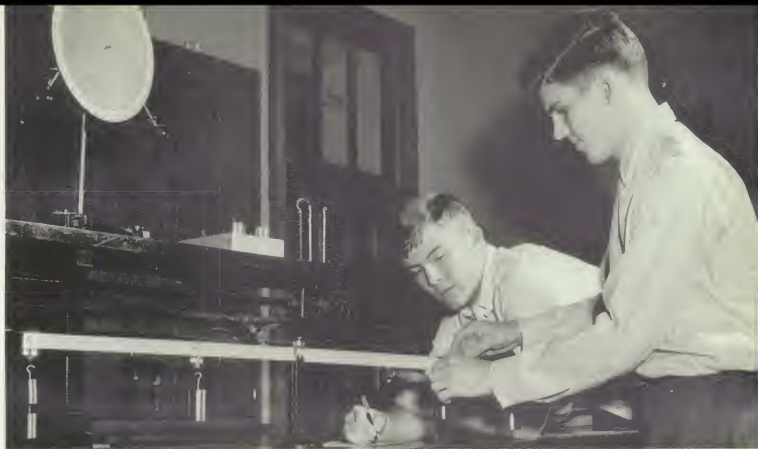

Physics, open to students meeting specified math requirements, includes the study of light, weight, heat, sound, density, radioactivity, and motion.

Laboratory experimentation is an important part of chemistry classes. Chemistry includes a study of mixtures, elements, compounds, and chemical reactions. An advanced chemistry course is offered to students who satisfactorily complete the first course.

IMMORTAL WORDS, "leave no log uncovered," spur Donno Nelson and Vickie Williams on to victory in the student versus insect struggle, inspired through Biology study.

MARY ANN MOSKO dissects and examines the anatomy of cat in zoology class.

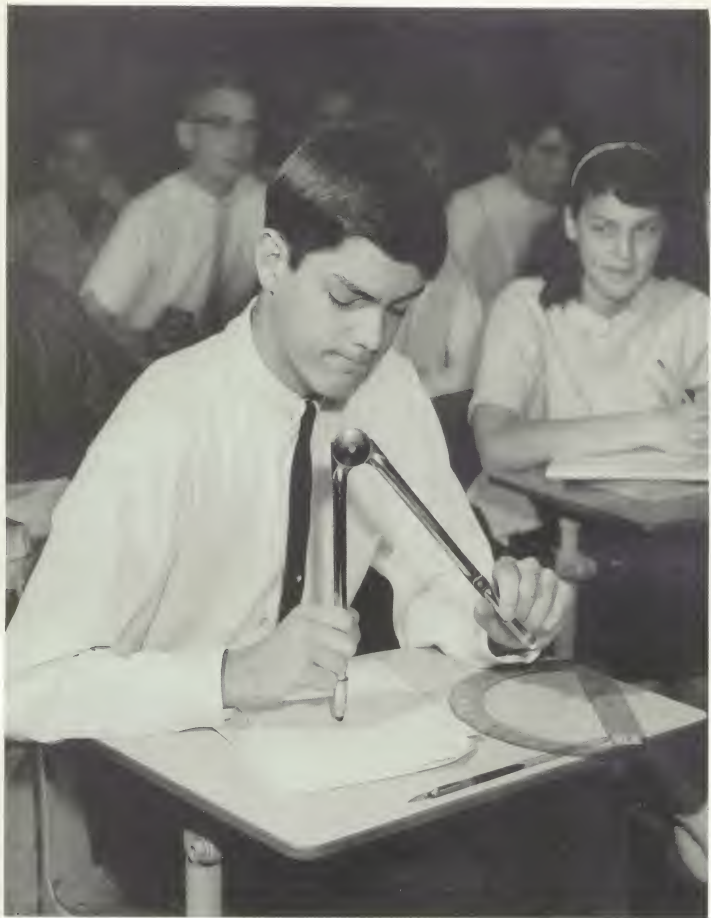

PHYSICS students Don Ward and James Bucko check the clockwise and counterclockwise motion of a lever by attempting to evenly distribute the various lead weights. Much of class time is devoted to conducting experiments such as this to find the reaction of certain elements or forces when they are combined the results are astounding.

SURPRISED by the reaction of a chemistry experiment which literally exploded are Cothy Callahan, Christine Brown, Richard Seagraves, Ronald Segally, and Ron Volbrecht. The explosion, triggered by combining sulphur and zinc sulphate and then applying a lit magnesium fuse, demonstrates a composition reaction.

CONSTRUCTING geometric figures was not an unusually difficult task until John Egner tried using the large-scale compass and protractor which are usually reserved for use on the blackboard. Using these instruments makes it easier for John to understand the procedure for making constructions.

Mathematics Create Stimulating Challenge

Principles which are the basis for algebra are studied along with simple addition and subtraction in general mathematics. Practical experience is given to commercial math students who are business bound, by learning techniques of writing checks. Principles of buying real estate and insurance are part of the business math.

Basic knowledge of mathematics is essential for every student at Morton. A variety of courses in mathematics for students with academic, general, and commercial programs prepare them for all walks of life.

This year, for the first time, Morton students were allowed to pursue courses in modern algebra. In the future modern mathematics will replace the conventional forms of college preparatory mathematics.

By memorizing a number of theorems and assumptions, a pupil may develop his power of reasoning in plane and solid geometry courses. Pupils use these principles to prove relationships between geometric figures.

Juniors and seniors wishing to continue mathematics at a higher level may decide on taking advanced algebra, trigonometry, and analytic geometry.

STUDY AND DRILL help Linda McPherson learn the structure and method of the new modern algebra now being taught to Morton students.

TRIGONOMETRY students Drew Hiduke and Zbig Rybicki shorten mathematic processes through the use of the slide rule.

PANEL MEMBERS Beth Stewart, Hillard Jasinski, Cynthia Arvay, Mory Hlusko, and Bob Meding analyze some of the finer points of world history as Mr. Evans points out a flaw in Cynthia's reasoning. Panels are frequently used to relate past world history incidents to present world situations.

IMAGINING herself in colonial times, D. Nelsan listens attentively as Mr. Georgos relates epochs of U.S. History.

World-Wide Problems

Probed by Governors

In order to understand the world of today one must be familiar with past events. The study of world history enables students to explore, compare, and contrast customs and cultures of foreign nations.

Flooded with names, dates, facts, and figures, United States history pupils acquire a basic knowledge of the heritage of their country. Through the colorful pages of the text book, students are taken back as far as the colonial period. The course attempts to relate current events with previous problems and solutions.

An investigation of the federal, state, and local types of government serves as a platform for study in government classes. Conducting mock elections during state and local elections helped to introduce voting procedures and regulations to further voters.

Geography, the descriptive science dealing with the surface of the earth, is explored by the geography classes with the aid of globes, maps, and charts.

U.S. and World Affairs, an elective course, parallels current events in all parts of the world.

JOHNSON OR GOLDWATER? Government students Joanne Frye, Brian Board, Larry Chaney, and Marcel Zlatnik participate in Marton's mock election.

POINTING OUT certain countries in Europe to Pat Hlavaty, Larry Schmaekel shows how maps play an important part in the study of world geography. Students use and draw maps to become better acquainted with the globe, topography and climate of different countries, and major cities of the world.

Mastery of English Inspires Creativity

Dangling participles, misplaced modifiers, and other aspects of grammar and composition are only part of the knowledge acquired in a student's four years of English at Morton. Courses in literature, journalism, and speech are also included in the curriculum.

During the freshman and sophomore years, grammar and literature are taught simultaneously. Juniors and seniors may take courses in advanced composition and American and English literature.

Journalism prepares students for work on the two school publications, the TOP HAT and the MORTONITE, as well as teaching them the principles of good writing and the organization of thought.

Speech students not only practice oration and self-expression, but also learn parliamentary procedure. Due to his appointment as Director of Secondary Education for the City of Hammond, Mr. Ellis Hays was replaced by Mr. Thomas Turpin in February.

SOUVENIRS of Mrs. Kelly's trip to Great Britain help English literature students B. Taylor, L. Lee, and L. Banas learn about the customs and culture of England.

BEING ABLE to use the library effectively is part of the basic knowledge acquired by every freshman taking English I. Mr. Elgas shows George Batman, Robert Matthews, Carol Sharpe, Randy Snyder, Kathy Herachik, and Lu Ann Schwandt the section of the library containing the reference materials.

"MYSTIFYING ORACLE OF OUIJA" is demonstrated in speech class by Marijo Cunningham while her entranced assistants, Dan Hull and Brian Doughmon, try to communicate with another world. Demonstration speeches help all speech students gain the confidence and skill they will need for the course.

PROOFING GALLEYS enables Donna Nelson and Sharon Knauer, journalism students, to learn the techniques of proofreading used by TOP HAT and MORTONITE.

PORTRAYING A SCENE from "Our Town" in American Literature are Debbie Glegg and Allan Burns who assist in portraying a play without the use of scenery.

Languages Introduce Customs and Culture

Vocabulary and grammar are of prime concern to first year Latin students. Written composition, advanced grammar, and Caesar's commentaries on the Gallic Wars compose the course of study for second year pupils.

Traditional marks, such as the "X" in the front of the room for those not reciting loudly enough, and "Siberia" in the back of the room for those talking without permission, are well known in Latin classes.

Perhaps the most important element of German classes is translation. Students translate and review novel condensations such as Faust and William Tell.

German philosophy, literature, and authors are studied by the advanced German class, which was offered for the first time this year.

REPRIMANDING MR. RUFF, who stands on the "X" for not reciting his Latin translation loudly enough, is first year student Kathie Piwowar.

GERMAN STUDENTS Jennifer Evons, Rich Volbrecht, and Roz Brenmon discuss Rich's recent trip to Austria to study German. Mr. Jordan, who also went on the trip, listens as Rich explains some of the customs. The trip offers students the chance to visit the countries related to the language they are studying.

CHRISTMAS IN MEXICO, one of the posters adorning the walls of room 219, offers first year pupils George Dudzik, Ed Ferguson, and Shella Fowler an idea of how Christmas is ab-served in Mexico. Posters are displayed to acquaint students with various customs of pertinent countries studied in class.

Translation, sentence composition, and basic conversation are important components of French and Spanish classes. First and second year students concentrate on fundamental grammar by building vocabulary and perfecting phonetic techniques. For the first time a fourth year of both Spanish and French was offered to students at Morton.

In addition to conversing in Spanish and writing compositions, the advanced Spanish class translated a simplified version of the famous Spanish classic, Don Quijote, which aided in their understanding of the style of Spanish literature and writers. As part of the study of the customs of Spanish-speaking countries, students learned to make pinatas.

The culture and customs of France were studied extensively by the advanced French class. Students often made use of the tape recordings available to them to help improve translations and to practice pronunciation of the more difficult sounds.

REPLAYING A RECORDING of her French pronunciation practice is second year student Barbara White. Steve Vadas and Linda Inglis await their turn as they listen for errors in Barbara's pronunciations and phonetics.

WORKING ATTENTIVELY foods class students Bonnie Wheatman and Shirley Neel hurry to finish the dishes by the end of the period. During the hour, pupils prepare and consume meals. This teaches them the necessity of nutritional food and the fundamentals to follow in order to plan a balanced menu.

Pupils Prepare for Home and Business

Basic skills in the preparation of food are taught to both boys and girls. Students not only learn to cook a variety of foods, but also study the principles of nutrition and the art of housekeeping.

Girls studying clothing learn the art of co-ordinating color and design. They start by making simple articles of clothing such as skirts and blouses, and work toward more complicated suits and coats.

Home management students saw films and visited the Merchandise Mart in Chicago to supplement their knowledge of budgeting and managing a household.

Business courses are offered to students who are not planning on a college education. Shorthand and stenography teach students basic office skills. Business law and salesmanship provide students with knowledge of commercial procedures which will benefit them in their future relations in business.

CLOTHING STUDENT Nancy Toth uses her knowledge of gorment making to stitch the seams of her skirt, which is one of the many projects accomplished in Clothing I.

TAKING DICTATION furnished by Mr. Alexander helps stenography students Diano Hetterscheidt and Linda Johnson improve their shorthand speed and skills.

WATCHING OBSERVANTLY while Miss Wolfe checks her typing exercise for errors is Iona Jahncstone, who is trying to increase her speed and accuracy in typing.

PORTRAYING BUYERS at a showing of the new 1965 automobiles helps salesmanship students Clarence Williams, Lorry Pucolik, Dove Oberle, Tom O'Brien, and Marsha Randolph learn what a good sales approach should include. Bob Groce uses pictures of several automobiles to emphasize his points.

Shop Courses Supply Practical Experience

Making precise measurements, constructing scale drawings, and exact lettering are a few of the skills acquired by mechanical drawing students. Using special tools designed to aid in drawing, both real and fictional problems from a text are solved in class. One of the more difficult problems deals with making three dimensional drawings on a two dimensional surface. Each task undertaken in the class prepares students for future work in industry.

As students construct projects in woodshop class, they are taught the art of using power machines properly and safely, as well as learning the tasks of pounding nails and carving and sawing wood in the correct manner to aid them in future constructions. In woodwork students learn to identify woods and their uses, to cut and dry lumber, to plan procedures, and to design and construct projects. These activities give pupils the basic fundamentals of woodworking tools.

WORKING CAREFULLY and diligently, Frank Podillo and Denis Colbert apply glue to a bookcase they are making as on assigned project in woodwork class.

INVOLVED IN A SOLUTION, Jim Gosvodo thinks his problem out carefully while Bruce Doiley and Bob Hoffman attempt to put their answers on paper. Compasses, slide rules, architect-tural scales, and other precision instruments are used by these students to make correct calculations and exact drawings.

Fine Arts Encourages Cultural Achievement

"Practice makes perfect" is a familiar saying to Morton vocal and instrumental music students. All Morton musical groups rehearse one period each day. In addition, practice rooms are provided for band and orchestra members to drill individually during their free periods throughout the week.

As a result of the many hours of intense study, Morton students are prepared for concerts, contests, and assemblies. Last year Morton's band ranked second class, and the orchestra was rated first class in the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association contest in Goshen, Indiana.

Self-expression is also the objective of art students. Pupils taking Art I and Art II learn the basic principles of design through painting and sculpturing.

CONCENTRATED PRACTICE is necessary to prepare music students Jennifer Evans and Ronald Valbrecht to play a duet for an upcoming District Violin contest.

ADVANCED art students Dale Caapstick and Sandy Robertson carefully sculpture scale models of the human form.

As Morton's Governors we take an active role in school organizations. Whether our abilities tend along academic or service lines, there is a club or organization in which we can release our talents and achieve a common goal.
By working with others we are able to grow physically as well as emotionally, making us better equipped to assume our place in the community and the world.

Top Hat Staff, Advisor Accept Responsibilities

Publishing the actual book is only one phase of the production on the TOP HAT. Another important job is selling the yearbooks. Each homeroom has a representative who takes care of the TOP HAT sales in his homeroom. It is not necessary for the representative to be a member of the TOP HAT staff. The representatives distribute identification cards, imprinted with pictures, to the students who purchase yearbooks.

The business staff, headed by Miss Janet Walcott, has an enormous job. One of the main sources of income is the selling of ads, which take up much of the time of the staff members. Many of the places are contacted outside of school hours, starting in early June.

BUSINESS STAFF members Bev Sheaks, Barb White, Advisor Janet Walcott, Corole Byrd, and LuElla Parks supervise the balancing of the budget for the Top Hat.

of Editing MHS Yearbook for '65

Anyone with writing ability and a desire to work on the annual yearbook may join the TOP HAT staff. This work is all voluntary and there are only two requirements: students must have taken the journalism course and they must have a strong inclination to work.

Students participating on the staff have to work continuously to produce an interesting and informative book. Upperclassmen are given sections, such as clubs, social, academics, faculty, or classes. Others offer help to section editors. After each section is assembled, they are combined to produce the completely approved yearbook.

Mrs. Helen Stock, advisor of the TOP HAT, teaches and guides the staff and the editors. Each summer the editor and other members attend institutes which help them for their future work.

Those Excelling in Journalistic Production

MORTONITE BUSINESS STAFF members handling finances and typing are — Marilyn Yeamans, Sandy Jarvis, Sue Powers, and Adele Bernocki.

The business staff is an essential part of the production of a newspaper, and this is also true at Morton. The MORTONITE Business Staff handles all the money matters that are of greatest concern to the financial status of the paper. One of their main jobs is the selling of ads for the paper. This is the largest source of revenue during the school year.

Quill and Scroll is an international organization available only to those journalism students who have worked on either the TOP HAT or MORTONITE Staff for a year and have done superior work. They must also be a junior or senior in the upper one-third of their graduating class. If the sponsor, Mrs. Helen Stock, finds a candidate eligible he is initiated and becomes a member. This year's initiation, held at the editor's home, was a candlelight ceremony, at which pins engraved with the position of the owner were awarded.

The Quill and Scroll sponsored the Junior High-light, a junior high periodical. This was paid for by the junior high council and distributed to all students in homeroom. This was the first year for this publication. Another project was the selling of sweatshirts. The sweatshirts, embossed with Morton emblems, came in red and grey. Several members competed for college scholarships through writing and current event tests offered by the Quill and Scroll Society.

QUILL AND SCROLL members selected because of journalistic talent and service on the staffs are — Bottom Row Pres. E. Hawking, V.-Pres. R. Brenman, Sec. S. Barnes, Treas. M. Hether, Program Chrm. R. Hopp, Historian M. Barabos. Second Row — M. Henkhaus, L. Parks, S. Powers, C. Frye. J.

Honored with Membership in Quill and Scroll

The MORTONITE is issued biweekly on Fridays. This newspaper has been rated in the first class division of the National Scholastic Press Association, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and the Quill and Scroll.

Included in the routine of publishing a paper are paste-ups, copy, and careful screening of photographs. The editor is responsible for making up the assignment sheets and distributing stories. She received instruction in her job by attending Northwestern University's Journalism Institute during the summer. The make-up editor attended Indiana University.

This year an April Fool's Issue was offered. It contained candid shots of students in make-believe school activities.

National Honor Society is an organization based on upholding high standards. Its requirements demand that the members excel in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The club, sponsored by Miss Mabel Hunter, accepts only those with a 3.0 grade average for four consecutive semesters' work.

Students with the proper qualifications apply for membership and are voted on by the faculty. If a member's average falls, he is not allowed to continue.

Initiations are held twice a year. The winter initiation is conducted during an assembly. The six officers, dressed in satin robes, take part in the ceremony by explaining the ideals of the organization. Gold pins and engraved cards are awarded to the new members.

DISCUSSING THE PURPOSE and aims of the National Honor Society are Sponsor Miss Mabel Hunter and President Tom Krughoff.

Honor Society, Association, and Cabinet

Students appointed by the president of the Student Association head the six departments of the Cabinet. They work to improve school activities and government.

L. Stout registers student automobiles and checks hall monitors. T. Krughoff enforces laws set up by the student legislature. S. Buza keeps records of the Associations financial account. All the assemblies are planned by J. Evans. D. Ward seeks jobs for students, and K. Teegarden schedules all social functions.

From 8:00 to 8:25, Tuesday through Friday, student offenders are tried before Chief Justice T. Krughoff and four judges, who represent each class, for recently committed offenses. Punishments may range from picking up paper to dusting the banisters and cleaning windows.

Morton High Student Association is a system of student government established so that the student body may express itself to the administration. Members of the House are from each homeroom and the Senators are elected from each class.

CABINET MEMBERS are — Standing — Sponsor of the Association Mr. Gortner, Sec. of Safety L. Stout, Chief Justice T. Krughoff, Sec. of Assemblies J. Evans, Sec. of Employment D. Ward. Sitting — Sec. of Treas. S. Buza, Sec. of Soc. Affairs K. Teegarden.

School activities at Morton High School are often decided upon by the Student Association — Senate and House of Representatives. The Senate has thirteen members: four seniors, four juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen. The House consists of a representative and an alternate from each homeroom. During meetings, the Vice-President presides over the Senate and the Speaker of the House presides over the Representatives.

Meetings are held approximately twice a month to take care of necessary business. This business usually includes the appropriation of money for school functions and the approval of school issues.

Essentially, the Student Association is the link between the student body and the faculty at Morton High School.

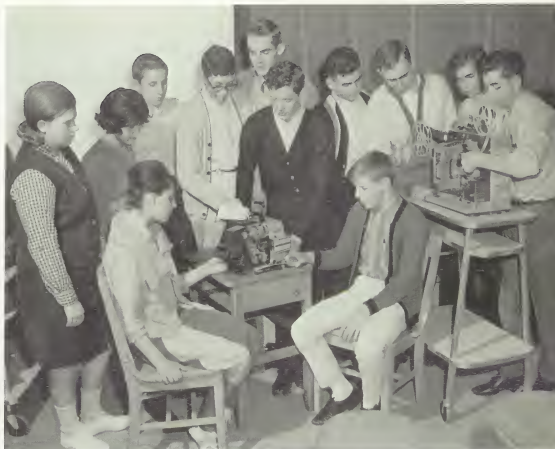

At Association meetings Congress discusses the effects of administrative decisions on the student body and ways of improving the school. The Association is patterned after the U.S. Congress.

Organizations Encourage Mechanical Training

Cinema Club serves the school and practices teamwork through the skills of operating audio-visual equipment. Mr. Arthur Gibson, the sponsor, aids the members in learning the skills of operation.

For the main activity of the year, the club visited a commercial television studio. However, the members were active every day in fulfilling special assignments to run the audio-visual equipment. Members received points for their services according to the time they devoted. At the end of the year letters and bars were given to the members with the proper points.

Members of the Electronics Club are first acquainted with the electronic theory. Throughout the remainder of the year, members strive to complete their electronic projects, such as the building of an amplifier. Mr. Robert Spry, the sponsor of the club, helped the members with these projects. Mr. Spry also selected members to prepare the programs for each meeting which included demonstrations of experiments and lectures. The club agreed that this proved to be an interesting way to explore the world of electronics.

Curious Scholars Explore Life's Mysteries

BIOLOGY CLUB members observing the human skull to review their study of the organs and systems of the body are — Ron Ortego, Beverly Hendricks, Kevin Campbell, Robert Bobos, Annette Montpetit, and Sponsor Mr. Robert Spry.

Opportunities to study living organisms and their environments are offered to pupils in Biology and Zoology clubs.

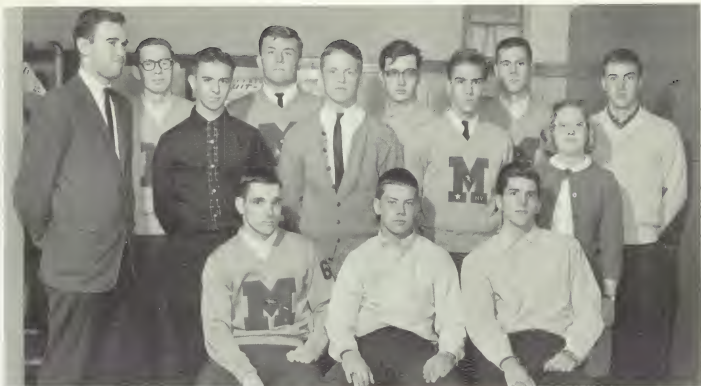

The purpose of the Biology Club is to further the understanding and interest in the biological sciences. The club, under the direction of Mr. Robert Spry, sponsored its annual roller skating party in March. They also participated in various field trips and visited the Museums of Science and Industry and Natural History.

Students interested in careers as medical lab technicians, physicians, nurses, or veterinarians all benefit from joining the Zoology Club, sponsored by Mr. Julian Rasmussen. The club's purpose is to further the knowledge and understanding in the field of zoology. Much of this knowledge is obtained through experimentation, lectures given by professors of various universities, lab demonstrations, and field trips. The club tries to encourage its members to enter various science fairs, and, in past years, its members have won numerous honors. An annual bake sale furnishes activity funds.

Clubs Examine Human, Plant, Animal Life

Students planning to enter the field of science receive valuable experience and information by joining either the Chemistry or Physics clubs.

The purpose of the Chemistry Club is to help the student learn more about chemistry as a career and an interest. In studying inorganic chemistry, the composition of substances and the transformations which they undergo is analyzed. The club has visited many different places accompanied by its sponsor, Mrs. Mary Pettersen. Purdue University laboratories, Standard Oil and Argonne National Laboratories were toured.

To understand physics thoroughly, it is necessary to experiment outside of the regular physics class. The Physics Club, sponsored by Mr. Howard Besch, enables the enthusiastic physics student to further experiment with physical concepts and gain added experience with scientific laws. The club members also learn advanced mathematics in addition to working with inanimate matter which does not involve change.

This club also toured the Standard Oil research plant to see how it operates and to receive added knowledge. The club members worked on many projects, among them the building of an oscilloscope used for showing wavelengths and high frequencies.

Government Club teaches students about their local and state governments. All senior students who have taken government are eligible to join.

After the death of Morton's orphan, Kim Chun Yung, the Government Club, assisted by sponsors Mr. Joseph Gartner and Mr. Roy Moorehead, adopted two orphan girls from Viet Nam, Nguyen Thi Be and Nguyen Thi Trung. During the school year there were two fund-raising projects. The first was an assembly in which all the proceeds were given to the orphans; the other was the annual Winter Formal held on February 12 at St. Michael's Hall. "Beaus and Arrows" was the name voted on by the club members. The children correspond with the club to inform it of their schooling, health, and needs.

Travel Club, sponsored by Mr. George Nelson, has one main project during the year — to visit some distinctive spot in the Midwest. The members' dues finance the trip. The students have imaginary visits through speakers, movies, slides, pamphlets, and discussions. These convey the special interest places that the students cannot visit in person.

Learning more about our country, its functions, and geography is vital at Morton.

Acting Stressed Through Student Theatrics

The major purpose of the Theater Guild, Stage Crew, and Thespians is to develop and create drama interest.

Participating in dramatic activities and studying different plays enables the Theater Guild members to achieve self-expression and cultural growth.

Stage Crew members are responsible for stage prop and settings for plays, band concerts, and assembly programs.

Thespians is an honorary service organization made up of students who have earned points based on their dramatic service and ability. Membership points are approximately twenty hours each.

On an average of twice a month, these three groups attend productions in Chicago, Gary, and various high schools.

Planning, preparation, and production are the three main "P's" involved in putting on a play. The major projects of these clubs consist of a fall musical, and a spring and winter play.

Trophies, Placques, and Ribbons Awarded

Sponsored by Mr. Jim McNabney, the Oral Interpretation League helps improve individual speaking by having members select and practice readings.

During the O.I.L. meetings, readings are prepared for contests and performances. Students are given a chance to use their initiative to interpret the cuttings which include humorous, dramatic, and poetic.

Members compete in the Calumet region speech meets every Tuesday night. They also enter state and national contests and win many awards.

At the sectionals held at Clark High School seniors Barb Hallum and Kris Houser placed first — Barb, in dramatic and Kris in poetic interpretation. Second place was taken by senior Lucy Kennedy, and fifth place was won by Ellen Hawking, also a senior. Both girls had humorous readings. Sixth and seventh place honors were captured by freshmen Diane Christy and Linda Lowrance, respectively.

Each year the members help the National Forensics League with the annual pancake breakfast, and a party is given during the last week of school.

"IN OUR COUNTRY right now," begins Barbora Hallum, in practice for her speech given at one of the original oratory contests held during the year.

VICTORY RIBBONS awarded to Lucy Kennedy, Kris Houser, and Barbora Hallum in original oratory contests are viewed with satisfaction by Mr. McNabney, sponsor of the Oral Interpretation League.

Points Accumulated Through Speech Areas

Composed of speakers competing in numerous contests, the National Forensics League strives for perfection both in individual speaking and debating. This perfection is reached only by the coordination of genuine efforts of members and sponsors. Under the supervision of Mr. Jim McNabney and Mr. Thomas Turpin, the NFL has reached many of these goals.

Membership is based on the point system. Points are accumulated through participation in debating, extemporaneous speaking, and oral interpretation. When a total of twenty-five points from competition has been reached, a student is qualified to become a member of NFL. Officers are not elected, but they receive their ranks on the basis of their points. The member having the highest number of points becomes the NFL president.

The annual pancake breakfast, sponsored by the NFL, raises money to meet their transportation expenses. Members gain experience by giving speech demonstrations for clubs and organizations.

Lyrical Compositions, Songs Delight Listeners

Music is an integral part of Morton School life. The leader of the orchestra for many years has been Mr. Gregory. With the stroke of the baton, the crowd hushes and the musicians begin. Besides conducting the orchestra, Mr. Gregory gives individual music lessons to prospective orchestra members. As well as leading the Senior Orchestra, he is in charge of the Junior Orchestra, which includes the Middle School.

The members participated in the State Solo contest at Indianapolis in February. On January 10 the annual Winter Concert was presented. The String Quartet, the Morton Dance Band, and a soloist performed. They will represent the school in a contest in April. Last year the orchestra received a superior rating.

The Girls' Chorus is under the direction of Miss Barbara Miller. It is the Primary music group for girls. The girls join the other vocalists for concerts and assemblies, which are held in the auditorium.

LOUIS GREGORY, conductor of the Morton High Senior Orchestra for eight years, confidently raises his baton to gain the attention of the musicians.

The band performed at school functions, including pep assemblies and a winter and spring concert. Some of the band members formed a special pep band which performs at pep rallies and sport events. Last fall members went to River-view to participate in the Mardi Gras.

The Carrillons include girls from Girls Choir, Girls Chorus, and Concert Choir. The Ten Tones consists of boys from Boys Choir and Concert Choir. Organized in the fall of 1963 by Miss Barbara Miller, these groups perform at assemblies, concerts and P.T.A. meetings.

Music in Perspective Club is a new club. At meetings members listen to records and learn about the composers. The aim of Music in Perspective is to broaden the student's knowledge of different types of music and to increase his interest and further his appreciation of music.

At Morton High School, students interested in musical activities are able to further their ambitions through the vocal department, which includes approximately seven percent of the student body.

The department has four divisions — concert choir, girls' choir, boys' choir, and girls' chorus. It stages the annual Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies. The fall and spring concerts for the public help raise money for the department's yearly expenses. The main expense is the purchase of new music. Christmas songs can be heard throughout the building as the music groups march through the halls caroling. During the second semester, all vocal department members are required to sell candy during the annual sales. Prizes are awarded to the thirteen highest salesmen. The various prizes range from stuffed animals to a portable television set. The proceeds from this sale are put in a fund for new choir robes.

This year's big attraction was the operetta "The Red Mill," presented by the concert choir and dramatics department members. Another of this year's activities included a field trip to Chicago to see "Oliver" on stage at the Shubert Theater.

A main feature of the vocal department is the "Swing 16," a mixed vocal ensemble selected from the concert choir. This musical group, which was organized in the spring of 1963, performs for assemblies, PTA meetings, concerts, and as entertainment for professional organizational meeting and parties.

Hi-Y is an all boy organization affiliated with the YMCA. Their main goal is donating their services where they are needed. The Homecoming bonfire, the city Hi-Y basketball tourney, and the goodwill baskets collected at Thanksgiving are a few of the club's activities. The annual "Mr. Ugly" contest and dance help to raise money for the Robert D. Newkirk Scholarship which is presented to the boy picked by the club members and the sponsors as the most responsible.

At Morton High School all Lettermen belong to the M-Club. Its members are representatives from the track, golf, football, wrestling, basketball, baseball, and cross country teams. However, certain requirements are necessary for obtaining a letter. Not every team member receives one. These requirements are different for every sport.

The main purpose of the club is to support school spirit at all activities. It also sponsors the Has-Been Will-Be basketball game which is played annually between the seniors and underclassmen.

Members are divided into two age groups. The Junior Y-Teens, sponsored by Mrs. Doris Fuller, is composed of freshmen and sophomores. Juniors and seniors make up the Senior Y-Teens, sponsored by Mrs. Lena Bonebrake.

Potato chip sales, held annually in the spring, are one source of revenue. Some of the profits go toward the building of a new YWCA building. The remainder of the profits help to send the new president to a summer institute.

For Christmas the girls repaired old toys for needy children. They also made arm rests by covering newspapers with sheets, and they made cancer pads. These they gave to patients in a nearby hospital.

Art Involves Much Time, Effort, Work

Experimentation with new materials was the aim of this year's Art Club. The members hoped to learn new techniques with metals and other substances. The sponsor, Mr. T. Waring, also hoped to teach the members skills other than those learned in class. Making enamelled copper jewelry was the main project for the year. The students made their own jewelry while gaining experience and skill in the large field of art.

The self-supporting Photo Club trains members to use photo equipment and gives service to the school. The members obtain experience in taking, processing, developing, and enlarging pictures. Finances are obtained from the sale of pictures. The club gives service to the Mortonite, Top Hat, and the Hessville Lite.

Photography as a hobby often develops into a profession through encouragement by the club. Members are permitted to use equipment on weekends for outside practice. An exhibit of photographs was displayed for the PTA. Photo Club enables students to learn photography while serving their school organizations.

Charitable Works Constitute Aims of Club

Working together to help less fortunate people was one of the chief aims emphasized by the members of the Girls' Club. One of their helpful projects was the making of scrapbooks. These books consisted of comics bound together in book form and were given to the people staying at the Lake County Convalescence Home in Crown Point. Each person received a small gift in addition to the scrapbook. Last February, in order to raise money for the gifts, the Girls' Club held a bake sale.

At club meetings projects were discussed and a good grooming program was carried out by the members. At one meeting two future cosmetologists from one of the beauty colleges demonstrated hair styling and dressing. Under the supervision of Miss Jacqueline Martine, the girls, through membership in this club, learn that charity strengthens character.

CLIPPING MAGAZINE ARTICLES to make scrapbooks for hospital patients and repairing old aprons used in cooking classes are just two of the many projects carried on by the Girls' Club this year. Engrossed in their work are officers Linda Foraker, Joanne Arvay, and Arlene Fladeland.

Organizations Stimulate Active School Spirit

PROMOTING ACTIVE PARTICIPATION backing of sports functions are the officers of the Booster Club. Sitting — Pres. Joanne Frye, V.-Pres. Ruth Ann Boxley, Sec. Janet Glasgow, Treas. Carol Blockmon. Standing — Sponsor Robert Welte, Sec. of Cope Section and Pep Assemblies Mory Lynn Waters, Pub. Choirmon Mory Russell, Sgt.-at-Arms Wolter Knish.

Booster Club not only arouses school spirit but peps up morale for the Governors during their sports seasons. The sponsors, Mr. Robert Welte and Mr. Donald Wools, assist in supporting Morton's athletic teams. The Booster Club members sold booster tags to raise money for equipment for the athletic department. At the end of each baseball season, prizes donated by stores were awarded to winning tag holders.

This year the club's main purpose was to build an organized cape section for basketball games. All students participating wore plain white blouses or shirts. Wearing their cords, seniors formed a black top hat at the sectionals. The red hat band was formed by the B-team cheerleaders.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Grace Marion, is open to pupils with two years' language experience.

The members had a Spanish dinner in the cafeteria and served tacos, tostados, salad, and dessert. The following day, the desserts not eaten were sold at the bake sale. The profits the club made went toward a dinner.

Two Groups Direct Interest Toward Books

Mr. Stanley Elgas, the head librarian, selects volunteers to work for him in the library. Each worker is then assigned a shelf of books to keep neat and in order. These workers help students locate materials throughout the library. They assist the students in checking out the books and re-shelf them when returned. The workers must be able to use the card catalogues so they can explain its use to others.

Reading good books broadens the mind and increases knowledge. This is the main purpose of the Literature Club. Members read Oepidus Rex, a Greek drama by Sophocles, as well as French plays such as The Miser. Open discussions of the books took place during the meetings. Each member held a specific office with his own duties. The members each portrayed a different character in the books and read their parts aloud. This led to better understanding and interpretation of the books.

The sponsor, Mrs. Norma Kelly, took part in the discussions along with the members.

Governors Investigate Future Occupations

The aim of the Future Teachers is to help the members become better acquainted with the fields of teaching as a profession. Its sponsors are Mrs. Norma Kelly and Miss Louise Williams. By teaching in the elementary classes the girls apply techniques they have learned through this club.

Speakers, movies of teaching, and reports by teachers' assistants are offered to club members. Each year a scholarship is given to some graduating senior. It enables the deserving student to enter a college and sets a standard for the students to maintain.

Helping students to learn about nursing requirements is the purpose of the Future Nurses, sponsored by Miss Laura Gibson, school nurse. This club now has a National Charter. The girls also help to promote special education programs and community health. This year the members collected for the cancer drive.

Some of the members donate their spare time to work as Volunteers at St. Margaret's Hospital to gain a knowledge of nursing. Next year the club will sponsor a girl for this service and pay for her training.

Many Helped by Clubs and Financial Drives

One of Morton's most worthwhile clubs is the Tutor's Club. Upperclassmen with a 3.0 average are eligible to join. Miss Wilma Clair, school counselor, supervises the members. She and the members work together devoting their extra time to assist students who are experiencing difficulty with a subject. Fifty cents an hour is charged for services. Twenty percent of this goes to the club. Money from the club's own treasury is used for students desiring help but who are unable to pay. After this expense the remainder of the money is given to further the education of a deserving student. Last year the money went to Morton's Kim Chun Yung. In the future the club hopes to secure pins with money raised from a bake sale.

Assignments are given out during meetings and problems concerning the tutoring services as well as ways of bettering the club are also discussed.

For the annual Community Chest Tour this year, four students were chosen to represent Morton. They joined representatives from all other Hammond schools and toured the YWCA, Carmelite Home for Boys, Brooks House, and the Good Will Industry. After these tours, they went to Tech to hear speakers discuss how the Community Chest money was used to help others. In order to acquaint the entire student body with the purposes of the Chest, an assembly was given.

Volunteers Profit by Donating Time, Effort

Clinic helpers keep records of attendance and assist Miss Laura Gibson, the school nurse, in aiding the ill.

Bookstore workers, under the guidance of Mrs. Gladys Reynolds, the financial secretary of Morton, sell school supplies, tickets to all the school dances, as well as football and basketball game tickets.

Sorting mail, writing admits, recording attendance, and running the ditto machine are a few of the tasks of the office helpers. These "girl-Fridays" also serve the administration and faculty.

The lieutenant monitors are in charge of the monitors. They make sure monitors are equipped with court notices and that they always report to their posts.

Teamwork is an important component of the Governor style. Whether backing our team from the stands or on the field itself, we understand the necessity of working with others. Our team, supported by loyal fans and the desire for victory, welcomes competitions. Healthy competition nurtures sportsmanship allowing our Governors to accept victory

Governors Use Stamina to Acquire Experience

Exhibiting a style of play that seldom wanted action, the 1964 Morton football team endeavored to uphold "that Governor tradition" and succeeded partially in recording a 2-6 season.

Troubled by a series of close losses added to injuries and suspensions, Coach Maurey Zlotnik's 25th Morton team went five games before securing its first victory, 19 to 0, over a South Bend Adams team which had lost by only two touchdowns to the defending state champions from Elkhart.

After a good start in the East Chicago Football-O-Rama, the Governors disappointed fans by losing to city rivals Clark and Tech. Following two one-point losses to Whiting and Bishop Noll, the Governors suffered a 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of ninth-ranked East Chicago Roosevelt. Morton then blasted Adams.

Eager for a mate to go with its first victory, Morton fell to city champion Hammond High in the belated M.H.S. Homecoming. The final game of the season saw the Governors score a 46 to 14 shellacking of the Calumet Warriors. This game provided Morton fans with not only a glimpse into the past, but also a very pleasing peek into the Governors' future.

WITH HANDS OUTSTRETCHED, Jim Gasvada and an unknown Wildcat reach for the fickle football during the Morton-H.H.S. contest which the Cats won, 19 to 6.

CHARGING FORWARD determinedly, backs Rich Volbrecht, Ran Volbrecht, and Darrel Chaney prepare to "obliterate" the opposition.

ATTEMPTING to find a hole through which to run, halfback Tom Eotinger gets blocking support from teammate Jim Sherer.

Flashes of Brilliance Spice Grid Season

"OUT OF THE WAY, EAGLE!" seniors Doug Storewicz and Don Ward seem to be saying as they attempt to clear a path for senior back Jim Sherer in the second quarter.

Precision maneuvers and a "hungry" attitude helped the Governors to their first victory of the 1964 season, 19 to 0, over the Eagles of South Bend Adams.

Morton's 1964 edition of "the fighting Governors" established the reputation as one of the Calumet Area's more balanced squads, with eleven gridders scoring at least one touchdown. Six of the team's sixteen touchdowns were scored via the air route, while the remaining ten were ground out on the turf.

Oddly enough, the team's high scorer was junior end Jim Gasvoda, whose "sticky" fingers gathered in four touchdown passes from Darrel Chaney.

Morton's number one rusher was junior Dan Hull, whose 358 yards in 95 carries accounted for three M. H.S. scores. Sophomore Ron Valbrecht took the prize for the best yardage per carry, 7.25.

Despite the fact that the Governors ended with a record quite lopsided in the loss column, Morton's struggling defense managed to hold its eight opponents to only 100 points, while the M.H.S. offensive machine scored 103 tallies.

It is interesting to note that twelve of the sixteen Governor touchdowns were scored by underclassmen, providing fans with a premonition that better things lie ahead for Morton and those who support her.

Zlotnik Governor Coach for 25 Years

Morton's rousing victory over Calumet in the season's final contest marked the pleasant end of Maurey Zlotnik's twenty-fifth year as Head Football Coach and Athletic Director at Morton.

Mr. Zlotnik, a graduate of Hammond High, first came to Morton in 1939 to serve as freshman football coach. When Morton became a senior high school in 1951, Mr. Zlotnik was appointed Head Football Coach and Athletic Director, two posts he has held ever since.

During the basketball seasons of 1959 and 60, Coach Zlotnik also served as freshman basketball coach. In addition to these time-consuming duties, he conducts frosh classes.

During these past twenty-five years, Coach Zlotnik has fielded some very good teams, and some very bad. Undoubtedly his best was the 1961 squad, which notched nine victories without defeat, secured the city and co-state championships, and resulted in the selection of Mr. Zlotnik as Lake County's Coach of the Year in 1961.

Morton's "coach of the year" every year, Mr. Zlotnik has taught hundreds of young men valuable lessons in life as well as in football. He deserves our thanks for a quarter century of service to Morton and the community.

A coach thinks a lot.

Sometimes he even laughs.

Mr. Zlotnik and quarterback Darrel Chaney eye the proceedings intently.

HALFTIME TALKS are important if a coach is to rectify mistakes. Here Coach Zlotnik attempts to give weary Governors some valuable pointers before the second half begins.

Governor B-Team Goes Undefeated Again

For the fifth straight time the fighting Governor B-team chalked up an undefeated season. Boasting a consistently-powerful offense and a rarely-weak defense, the Governor junior varsity won four games, lost none, and tied one — par for the B-squad course.

Coach Bob Gollner's charges scored their one-sided romps over Hammond Clark and E. C. Roosevelt, while playing solid football in defeating E. C. Washington and Bishop Noll. Only Hammond Gavit was able to score more than one touchdown on the victory-minded eleven in a 13 to 13 deadlock.

Through solid practice on the B-squad, Governor players worked to be ready for varsity ball, which will test their stamina and strength even more.

For the first time in many years, Morton's freshman football team failed to win more games than it lost. Gaining valuable experience which will enable them to fit easily into the varsity program, the Governor yearlings wound up the season with two victories, three defeats, two ties, and valuable experience.

For Coach Jack Georgas, the season could be called somewhat disappointing. There were, however, several encouraging signs which point to a possibly bright Governor showing in the future.

First and foremost among frosh assets was the desire of the group to excel, whether on top of the score or not. This desire was demonstrated by the defense, which, excepting two games, held opponents to just one touchdown and one extra point.

Following a 24 to 7 setback at the hands of East Chicago Washington, the M.H.S. yearlings humbled Hammond Tech, 13 to 0. A close contest with the Wildcats ended in an 8 to 0 win for HHS.

The following game saw Morton hold Hammond Gavit scoreless. However, the young Gladiators turned the same trick, and the game ended in a 0 to 0 deadlock. Next on the schedule was Hammond Clark, which rallied to eclipse the Governors, 19 to 13.

The final two games marked the high point of a season not abundant with high points. The young Governors bested Bishop Noll, 6 to 0, and turned the tables on East Chicago Washington by holding the Senators to an exciting but muddy scoreless knot.

Fighting Roundballers Snatch Six Victories

LEAPING ABOVE a Gavitt defender, junior letterman Darrel Chaney hooks the ball toward the basket. Morton fell to the Gladiators, 62 to 54 although the game was very close.

Relying heavily on untested underclassmen and a nucleus of two returning starters, Morton's defense-minded Governors finished the season with six wins in 21 contests. Banding together behind juniors Darrel Chaney and Jim Gasvoda, the inexperienced Governors won the first two games of the year and showed much promise despite the won-lost record.

The Governors used a tenacious defense to hold most of their opponents to a low score, but the M.H.S. offensive machine was not quite polished enough to take advantage of the opportunities open to it.

The season began on a pair of happy notes — victories over Whiting and LaPorte. The latter win was especially gratifying, since not even Morton's Sectional runners-up of 1962 were able to overcome the Slicers. A close loss to eventual Hammond City Champion Bishop Noll was followed by another close defeat, this time at the hands of city foe Hammond Tech. Although unsuccessful in contests against St. Joseph of South Bend, East Chicago Roosevelt, and Chicago Dunbar, the Governors pasted Whiting's Oilers in the first game of the Whiting Holiday Tournament. Advancing to the championship game, the Governors were nipped by Elmhurst High of Fort Wayne.

TENSE MOMENTS were frequent in Morton's 57 to 52 victory over the Clark Pioneers late in the season. Here junior Ken Backen prepares to break a late-game deadlock with two free throws. Free throwing was not a Governor forte during the year, as they shot just a shade over 50 per cent.

ATTENTION seems to be focused on the ceiling in this tense play during the Clark game. Senior guard Zbig Rybicki attempts to get off a shot, only to have it blocked by a Pioneer defender. As the ball soars out of camera range, players of both squads attempt to get in position to retrieve it.

Close Losses Rob Govs of Winning Season

The post-Christmas schedule began with a heart-breaking loss to down-county foe Griffith, 61 to 59. The following Saturday saw Morton's first venture of the year into the state limelight, where the Governors fell first to highly-rated Valparaiso and then to Muncie South, one of the final eight teams in the state tourney, in the consolation contest of the Valparaiso New Year's Tournament.

Morton broke the losing habit by demolishing Gary Wallace and, after losses to Gavit, Terre Haute Garfield, and sectional favorite Highland (the latter by just five points), the Morton squad took a morale-boosting 57 to 52 victory over city foe Clark.

Gary Wirt's Troopers took their toll of the Governors, but Hobart felt the brunt of Morton's scoring power, 85 to 65, in the best offensive showing of the year. The final regular season game saw the Governors fall to city arch-rival and eventual Sectional Champion Hammond High, 61 to 53, although the scrappy Governors held the lead until midway in the last period.

WITH TIME RUNNING OUT in the Govit contest, senior Lorry Lee fires the ball off, only to have it blocked.

Defense Stressed as Governors Limit Foes

Boasting nine players with shooting averages of .400 or better, six of them underclassmen, the 1964-65 Morton Governors provided excitement and interest despite the lack of complete success.

Although victory celebrations were not too common in the Governor camp, Morton's Varsity roundballers did exemplify teamwork and the type of effort which goes into the making of a successful team.

Most teams in this era of fast-moving basketball concentrate on the offensive aspects of the game. Scores of games mount higher and higher, while team defenses lose more and more of their importance. In focusing their efforts toward defensive success, the Governors limited all but three opponents to under 70 points. Only highly-ranked teams from Valparaiso, Muncie, and Terre Haute were able to fully solve the tenacious Governor defensive machine.

Named this year's Most Valuable Player was junior Jim Gasvoda, whose 220 rebounds helped to keep the Governors in many games, as did his 233 season points. Leading the Governor scoring was junior Darrel Chaney, while another junior, Ken Bocken, led all Morton starters in shooting percentage.

With only three seniors on the entire Varsity roster during the year, hopes are high that the experience gained this year may aid the team in the future. A solid nucleus of returning Governors will be aided by the addition of those players now on the B-squad.

MORTON'S 64-65 GOVERNORS ARE L. Lee, B. Harvey, D. Chaney, T. O'Brien, T. Anderson, Z. Rybicki, K. Bocken, R. Valbrecht, P. Svabik, J. Tamsic, and J. Gasvoda. Coaching

INTENTLY EYEING the action is Morton's coach, Joe DePeugh. Now in his fifth year as Governor mentor, Coach DePeugh has a 50-55 overall record.

LEAPING HIGH for a possible two points are Governors Bill Horvey and Jim Gasvoda, while teammate Dorrel Choney readies for a possible rebound in this tense game.

Governors Fight and Fall in Sectional

Seasons, especially long ones, always end with the fervent hope that the favorite team will upset a highly-ranked squad in the sectional tournament. Such was the case at Morton as fan enthusiasm reached its peak in the close loss to Hammond High.

With a 6-15 record behind them, the Governors entered Civic Center to do battle with Griffith. Except for an extremely poor start against the Panthers, Morton kept up with the eventual victors, point for point. Were it not for a frigid first few minutes, the Governor roundballers would have been around the following night to meet the eventual sectional champion, H.H.S.

Junior veteran Darrel Chaney led the Morton team in scoring with 18 points, while Most Valuable Player Jim Gasvoda scored 11. Of the ten Governors who saw action in the sectional, seven will return next year.

Will-Be's Trip Seniors in Annual Classic

With a crash bang and a hearty "Hi-Yo Has-Beens!", the joys and disappointments of the 1964-65 season were forgotten as the annual Has-Been vs. Will-Be donnybrook took center stage. The usual ceremonies before, during, and after the game were observed, accompanied by the usual class rivalry evident in every senior-underclass contest.

After a close first quarter, the Will-Be's, under Coach DePeugh's direction, defeated the departing seniors by a score of 87 to 65.

SENIOR Tom Eoinger displays the Has-Been 8-ball as his cohorts, Frank McCoy, Larry Choney, Jim Sherer, and Doug Starewicz exhibit victory smiles. The smiles were to no avail — the seniors lost.

AS SENIOR FANS and players alike look on, junior Ken Bocken aims a jump shot at the basket.

IT LOOKS LIKE trouble ahead for junior letterman Darrel Chaney as a seemingly-headless Has-Been leaps high to barrel his shot in the annual class contest.

MORTON'S JUNIOR VARSITY of 1964-65 includes Mgr. R. Skaggs, M. Mestrovich, Rich Volbrecht, T. O'Brien, Ron Volbrecht, E. Johnson, R. Skamay, D. Chesney, J. Fozkos, M.

Guiden, Coach Howard Stout. Freshmen T. George and L. Robertson also participated on the B-team later in the season.

B-Team Prepares for Varsity Competition

This year's Junior Varsity basketball squad wound up with eight victories and nine defeats in a season abundant with excitement. Taking the court about an hour before the varsity contests, the B-squad featured average shooting and a tenacious, scrappy defense. The B-team Governors managed to fight their way to the final game of the Hammond B-team tourney, where they were defeated by East Chicago Roosevelt.

Following a two-point loss to Whiting after taking a 15 to 0 advantage, the Governors edged LaPorte, 44 to 43, setting the stage for the Varsity upset. Bishop Noll drubbed the Morton jayvees, 51 to 34, and Hammond Tech was successful in a thrilling game, 38 to 37. Next came a trouncing at the hands of St. Joseph of South Bend, a close loss to Roosevelt of East Chicago, and a three-point win over Chicago Dunbar, the second win in two years against the junior Mighty Men from the Windy City.

An eleven-point win over the junior varsity from Hammond High and a victory over Bishop Noll in the return match set the stage for the loss to Roosevelt in the tourney championship, 36 to 33.

Victories over Griffith, Gary Wallace, and Hammond Gavit preceded a loss to the unbeaten B-team from Highland, 47 to 41. Terre Haute Garfield downed the Governors, 75 to 51, and Hammond High accomplished a victory following a Governor win, 47 to 32, over Hammond Clark.

Freshmen Gain Experience, Four Victories

Although not victorious in a majority of its contests, this year's freshman basketball squad did display some of the many attributes which a good team must have. Led by two players who later joined the Varsity, Tom George and Larry Robertson, the yearling Governors ought for four victories while losing seven. Three of the seven losses were extremely close and could have easily gone the other way.

A tense, exciting season opener was staged against Bishop Noll Institute, with the visiting Warriors edging Morton, 48 to 42. Another close defeat at the hands of Gavitt preceded the first Gov win of the year, 35 to 32 over East Chicago Roosevelt.

The real highlight of the short frosh year came with a 61 to 46 rout of crosstown rival Hammond High. Losses to East Chicago Washington (twice) and Bishop Noll set the stage for the highest offensive game of the year, 63 to 56 over Clark. The season ended on a rather sour note as Roosevelt took revenge for an earlier defeat and routed Morton in the Freshman tournament held at Morton. The Gavs, however, did finish as the number two freshman team in the city.

Grappling B-Team Wins Gavit Tournament

Smacking up against some of the better squads in the area and the state, Morton's Varsity and B-team wrestlers of 1964-65 distinguished themselves by taking a combined total of thirteen victories.

Both divisions of wrestling at Morton started the year off with a bang, the Varsity smashing East Gary, 46 to 8, and the B-squad taking an even bigger win over the Eagles, 49 to 3.

During most of the year, the pattern set by the B-team in the preliminary match was followed by the Varsity. Notable exceptions are the B-team's wins over Horace Mann and Edison followed by Varsity losses to those same teams.

High points of the B-team season include a 34 to 18 victory over rugged East Chicago Roosevelt, a first place in the Gavit Tourney, and a 39 to 9 stomping of Gary Edison. Although the team finished with three straight losses, each one could have easily gone the other way as the scores indicate.

With a 7-7 season behind them, the Governor grapplers entered the Hammond Sectional. Numerous members of the squad won their preliminary matches, and veteran wrestlers Jeff Andres and Jim Sherer were victorious in the final round, thus qualifying for the Regionals. Despite the two Sectional victors from Morton, the Governors came up two points shy of the title, marking the closest Morton High has ever come to a sectional championship in wrestling.

Again exhibiting a style of play which has carried Morton baseball squads to success upon success in the past, the Governors of 1964 notched nine victories, five of them over Hammond rivals. Only Clark was able to stop the M.H.S. nine from a clear sweep of city public schools, and that close defeat was avenged later in the year by a score of 9 to 7.

Taking the field for the first time since the incredibly successful season of 1963, the Governor baseballers trounced William Wirt, 7 to 1. Losses to Clark and Whiting preceded the big game of the early season, a 9 to 7 slugfest victory over Hammond High.

Now confident of their power and possibilities, the Governors went on to defeat Hammond Tech, Hammond Gavitt (twice), Hobart, Thornton Fractional North, Hammond Clark, and East Chicago Roosevelt.

Close losses to Calumet, East Chicago Washington, Hobart, Gary Roosevelt, and Thornton Fractional South dented the Governor record a bit, but the team did finish above the .500 mark, the sixth straight year that they have been able to do this.

Through a determined team effort and the excellent coaching of veteran helmsman Jack Georgos, the 1964 Morton Governors rightfully upheld the title given them by an area writer: "Yankees of the Calumet."

Uphold High Governor Baseball Standards

With the memory of six consecutive successful seasons haunting it, the 1965 Morton baseball team took to the diamond to prove that this year's squad is as good as, or better than, those which preceded it. Sporting several regulars and "near-regulars" from the squad which won nine games in 1964, the Gov baseballers have high hopes of taking the title which has graced the halls of Morton for many years: that of City Champion.

Every aspect of the game is represented by one or more adept Gov players. Pitching is taken care of by senior Don Ward and junior Bob Biscan. Senior Larry and junior Darrel Chaney carry the brunt of the batting load, while such players as Tim Sumner and Dave Coppage more than hold up their end out on the field. In addition, Coach Georgas gas a strong bench from which to draw.

Already the team has shown definite signs of greatness, slapping Crown Point in the opener, 3 to 0, and following it with victories over Wirt and Washington. The Governors have shown without delay that they intend to be recognized.

SENIOR INFIELDER Tim Sumner prepares to field on opponent's grounder in a close game. Teamwork such as this has enabled Morton to win the city championship almost annually since the first M.H.S. season in 1956.

SPRINTING for first base is senior cother Zbig Rybicki. In this tense game Zbig was safe and so was Morton, 3 to 0.

Governors Cover All Aspects of Baseball

MORTON'S SUCCESSFUL battery of Don Ward and Zbig Rybicki takes center stage in this crucial victory over East Chicaga Roosevelt's Rough Riders.

Pitching and catching, two very important assets which every team must have, were both possessed by the Marton Governor baseball team of 1964.

BATTING remains the primary concern of Marton's baseball team, as junior Tam O'Brien shows in this hit.

Track and Field Teams Gain Moral Victories

TAYLOR races for the tope.

Although the Morton track team of 1964 won only one meet in the seven in which it participated, the Governors who took part secured valuable experience which will be of help in the cinder seasons to come.

With a primarily underclass aggregation, Coach Nick Luketic saw that 1964 would be a year of trial and error, a year of experimentation and revamping. This was proven beyond a doubt after the first few meets. Bishop Noll and Hammond Clark, normally downed by Morton in early indoor meets, both took their tolls of the Governors. Only Horace Mann of Gary was not able to score a victory.

However, fine individual performances partially cancelled out the effects of a losing season, as sprinters Bob Salach and John Gerovac, broad-jumper Joe Krucina, and high-jumper Ron Volbrecht did their team and their school proud — as did many other members.

It was perhaps the poor showing by the Governors early in the season that prompted them to try harder later on. This was shown in the fact that the Morton team finished last in the City Indoor meet, but defeated two Hammond rivals in the outdoor meeting.

Looking back to an eventful but somewhat less than joyous season in 1965, the returning tracksters and new additions began the 1965 season in high hopes of bettering last year's record. Although the Governors were defeated in the Bishop Noll relays and later in the dual meet with the Warriors, the showing made by all members of the team was better than at the same time last year.

Although Calumet trounced the Morton tracksters, the next two meets were more successful. Despite the fact that M.H.S. has not as yet set any new area records, it is apparent that the rebuilding process begun last year will pay off in the near future.

Leaders in some of the track and field events are Ron Volbrecht in the high jump, Joe Krucina in the broad jump, John Gerovac in the half mile run, and Paul Scott in the hurdle events.

In their attempts to learn from past mistakes and to merit by them in the future, Morton's track team has enjoyed the coaching leadership of Nick Luketic and his assistant, Howard Stout.

'Work and Play' Help to Form Class of '65

AFTER MANY HOURS of hard work, Rolph Rhodes ponders over what to do to make the senior float successful.

BLACK AND GRAY senior cords were the choice of the members of the class of '65. Chris Brown and Glynn Glod participate in the traditional outgrophing of skirts and trousers.

STUDYING for the future are National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists-Kris Houser, Tom Krughoff, Bob Florence, and Allen Nagy. Kris Houser was also the recipient of the DAR award.

Morton's class of '65 excelled in scholastic achievements. Two students from the Senior class were chosen to speak at Commencement this year, instead of the traditional salutatorian and valedictorian. This change was due to the entirely new system of class ranking.

Seniors, in preparing for Commencement and Baccalaureate, were measured and fitted for their caps and gowns. The final climax of the year came when the graduates made the traditional procession to "Pomp and Circumstance" at the Commencement services.

Good character, citizenship, and a fine knowledge of history are the qualities needed for the Daughter's of the American Revolution Award. Kris Houser, having displayed these qualities, received this award. Kris was also a National Merit Scholarship finalist.

Seniors with exceptionally high scores on the National Tests became semi-finalists and later took the finalists tests. Morton had our semi-finalists this year, who later became finalists. Winners receive these honors on the basis of tests results, high school grades, extra activities and school official recommendations.

PREPARING for graduation day, Janice Zea, Jim Kiger, and Linda Kohl put final touches on their robes. Gowns this year were a metallic blue color with matching caps and tassels.

Jr. Officers Proud to Represent Class

As upperclassmen, MHS juniors have experienced several changes this year. New advanced courses in chemistry and English offered juniors unusual scholastic opportunities and helped them attain higher academic achievements. Although these Governors were kept busy studying, they had their share of fun, too. Planned by the Junior Executive Board, their float, "We're Robin' the Archers of Victory," was to be in the homecoming parade scheduled for September 26. Due to unfavorable weather, the Fort Wayne South game was cancelled and homecoming festivities were postponed until October 30. Since the homecoming game was played against Hammond High, the class of '66 rallied to build a second float.

Sponsors Miss Jacqueline Martine and Mr. Walter Ruff, with the help of the Junior Executive Board Members, made preparations for this year's prom, "Unforgettable," held at the Dorchester Club. The After-Prom Party, also held at the Dorchester Club, was made possible through the combined efforts of the class sponsors and the parents of Morton juniors.

DOUBLE TROUBLE challenged Morton's juniors when they entered their float in the homecoming parade. "We're Robin' the Archers of Victory," their first attempt, was handicapped by rain. Steve Sokso, Lenore Brondenburg, and Cookie Creekmore are working on "Frior Zlatnik" and finishing the flower target which the Morton Governors hoped to hit with victory.

Entering their last year as underclassmen, sophomores found high school more appealing. Class officers and interested students attended meetings held to organize present and future activities. The future homecoming floats were discussed and arrangements for the time and place of the Junior-Senior Prom were made. Having sufficient funds in the treasury, sponsors Mrs. Lena Bonebrake and Mr. Donald Woolls agreed money-raising projects would not be necessary.

As sophomores, they were no longer subject to the friendly ridicule freshmen receive from upperclassmen. Because the B-team cheerleaders consisted of some sophomore girls and the boys played an important part on the team, there was more participation and a greater interest in high school sports this year.

Committees were chosen to plan the Sophomore "Get-Together" held April 30. This party enabled classmates to become better acquainted. The date for the election of officers was advanced one week to allow the candidates to give their election speeches.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS considered by their classmates to have the ability needed to lead their class are — Pres. Hazel Witte, Vice-Pres. Betty Bakker, and Sec. Linda McTaggart.

SPREADING ENTHUSIASM through Morton's halls, sophomores Sharon Strayer, Linda Sorbello, and Scott Decker are hanging a sign to arouse school spirit, "Go Guv-nors, Let's Go!"

Freshmen Overcome Election Difficulties

Due to lack of communication and understanding, the scheduled election for the ninth graders was postponed until enough candidates were nominated for office. These difficulties were overcome as the new Governors gained interest in the welfare of their class.

Although a part of Morton's newly established "middle school," the students still considered themselves freshmen in high school. Even though the ninth graders were not allowed to attend the regular assemblies, they had several of their own. A pep assembly was held to help arouse their school spirit and to give these young Governors an additional interest in sports.

These middle schoolers studied a variety of high school subjects ranging from foreign languages and algebra to shop and home economics. Gym classes and study halls were also a part of their daily schedule.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS are — Pres. Ran Canaday, Sec. Karen Young, and Vice-Pres. Janet Blackman.

Educational Opportunities, Extra Expenses

MOST STUDENTS find expenses in high school are greater than they expected and seem to increase as time goes on. Freshmen Terry Hiduke and George Dudzik begin to count their "pennies", while Marquita Jenkins, bookstore attendant, looks on sorrowfully.

Administration Regulates Activities

Serving his third year as the principal of Morton High School, Mr. W. Winston Becker has had many extra responsibilities concerning the construction of the new Oliver P. Morton High School, scheduled for completion during the fall term of 1966. Besides making plans for the new school, he must also take care of his duties at the present home of the Governors. Mr. Becker must approve the various school activities, confer with the faculty members on the many problems facing the school this year, and talk with Dr. Joseph Hendrick, Superintendent of Hammond Public Schools, from time to time on various school issues. The most pressing of these problems is how to cope with the over-crowded study halls and lunch hours.

Mr. William Volk, head of discipline, and Mr. Charles Chidester, head of curriculum, have also had special problems to handle this year. The switch-over to I.B.M. has complicated the scheduling and planning of the programs of both teachers and students.

PRINCIPAL OF MORTON High School, Mr. W. Winston Becker, has served in his position for three years.

VICE-PRINCIPALS Mr. William Volk, in charge of discipline, and Mr. Charles Chidester, in charge of curriculum, discuss some current school counseling problems, which include how to help a student choose the right college or university.

HAMMOND'S SCHOOL BOARD members are — Seated — Mrs. T. Allen, Mrs. L. Stern. Standing — Mr. C. Scott, Dr. H. Eggers, Mr. L. Bereolos, and Superintendent Dr. P. Hendrick.

The Board, elected on a bipartisan basis, meets twice each month to decide its policy on governing the Hammond public schools.

COUNSELORS Mrs. Nancy Squibb, Mr. George Kurteff, and Miss Wilma Cloir work hard to keep records in order. Most of the day, however, is spent counseling the students.

Faculty Members Enjoy Outside Activities

OFFICE WORKERS combine efforts to form a useful and efficient mail receiving system, of which Mr. Joseph Gartner and Mr. Ronald Jordan take advantage.

Aside from the students, local merchants are the most important component of our school publications. By purchasing space in the yearbook, merchants not only show their faith in our student body but also provide themselves with a permanent record of their business. Because our students and their parents shop in the community, patronage is a necessary relationship between school and business.

Inland Steel is here . . . for more than 70 years

For more than 70 years men and women have been building successful careers at Inland Steel. Today many of your relatives, friends and neighbors are working at the Indiana Harbor Works of Inland Steel in a wide variety of occupations providing steel that goes into bridges, buildings, refrigerators, ranges, farm machines, automobiles, tools, toys . . . into thousands of products that we use each day. Many are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in production departments.

Others are working in laboratories helping to assure quality or developing new and better products for our customers.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades through formal apprenticeship programs offered in the following trades — Machinist, Patternmaking, Boilermaking, Welding, Shop Electrician, Wireman, Mason. Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs or the Purdue-Inland Training Program in which an employee may take a steelmaking, electrical or mechanical curriculum. Still others are continuing their formal education at one of the local extension centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you at INLAND STEEL . . .

SCENE—INDIANA DUNES

Dear Governors,

It would take several volumes and full time employment to tell the complete story of Morton High School. I have tried to tell it with one book, in a few hours a day. If I have reached my goal I have succeeded in telling your story — 1965.
